"As a presenter, Eve is informed, entertaining, accessible, and above all, memorable. From the moment Eve stands up, it is clear she knows what she is talking about and is confident in leading an audience through the process of learning, remembering and enjoying the information presented. Eve is impeccably presented, displays appropriate tone, energy and delivery style variation. Anecdotes were used to perfection, steering away from indulgence and instead building a solid bridge to connect her with her audience.
